

The Beatles Anthology I

The Beatles Anthology I (TRIPLE ALBUM)

The first "triple" album by the Beatles; from "The Beatles Anthology" series

Devoted to the initial period in the work of the Beatles.

Recorded in mono.

These songs, recorded during the period from the spring of 1958 to 18 October 1964, and included as "The Beatles Anthology I", did not previously appear on any official record by the group. We should also mention here other versions of well-known Beatles productions on the records, which until this time had not once appeared on official Beatles albums. It is very interesting to note too that it is the first time since the break-up of the Fab Four in 1970, that the Beatles, including Paul, George, Ringo, again gathered together to work on this masterpiece: "The Beatles Anthology I";
